INTRODUCTION.

THIS WORK has been undertaken for the purpose of satisfying the very general desire expressed by my professional friends to be supplied with a simple Catalogue of the Judges of the land, and of their station and succession in the different Courts of Westminster Hall, thus relieving them, in their forensic preparations, from the necessity of resorting to voluminous reports, and of searching, in works not easily accessible, for the precise period of the authority they wish to cite, the Court in which the judgment was pronounced, and the actual members who then sat on its Bench.

It commences with an Alphabetical List of all the Equity and Common Law Judges, from the time of the Conquest to the present date; with the reigns in which they flourished, and the different Courts in which they at any time sat.

Then follow Tables of these Courts in each successive reign, with their respective staffs during every year, and almost every day, of its continuance; so that the precise position of each Judge may be seen in the several reigns and Courts attached to his name in the alphabetical list.

Previous to the final division of the Courts of King's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer, which was not completely effected till the reign of Edward I., no satisfactory arrangement of them could be adopted. The earlier Common Law Judges have been therefore denominated simply 'Justiciars,' and are not included in any of the tables; but from the reign of Edward I. there is a regular succession of tables for all the Courts.

The Justices Itinerant, and of Trailbaston, could not, of course, be inserted in any of the tables ; but their names are given in the list, and their lives have been added to the others recorded in 'The Judges of England.'

The date of the commencement and termination of the reign of each sovereign immediately follow his name ; and to all the judicial changes I have prefixed the regnal year.

The names of the Attorney and Solicitor-Generals, from the time of the institution of those offices, will, I anticipate, be acceptable to the Profession ; as will also the list which I have appended of the Judges whose Reports have been published.

With the hope that this compilation (which is principally extracted from my larger work) may be serviceable to both legal practitioners and students, and not wholly useless to the antiquary and historian, I consign it to that fate which it may be found to deserve.

EDWARD FOSS.

SHOWING THE JUDGES WHO SAT IN THEM,

FROM 1066 TO 1864;

INSTITUTION OF THOSE OFFICES.

William I.

December 25, 1066—September 9, 1087. 20 years, 8 months, 15 days.

A.R.	A.D.	CHANCELLORS.	CHIEF JUSTICIARIES.
1	1067		Odo, Bishop of Bayeux and Earl of Kent, and William Fitz-Osberne, Earl of Hereford. }
2	1068	Arfastus, made Bishop of Helmham, 1070.
4	1070	Osbert, or Osbern, made Bishop of Exeter, 1074.
7	1073		William de Warrenne, and Richard Fitz-Gilbert. }
8	1074	Osmund, made Bishop of Salisbury, 1078.
12	1078	Maurice, made Bishop of London, 1083 or 1085.	Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury. Geoffrey, Bishop of Coutance, and Robert, Earl of Morceton. }
17	1083	William Welson, made Bishop of Thetford, 1085.
20	1086	William Giffard, made Bishop of Winchester, 1100.

Two other chancellors have been erroneously introduced, viz. :—

Galdric (miscalled Baldric); a chancellor in the next reign; and

Herman, Bishop of Sherborne; for whom there is no sufficient authority.

William II.

September 26, 1087—August 2, 1100. 12 years, 10 months, 7 days.

---

A.R.	A.D.	CHANCELLORS.	CHIEF JUSTICIARIES.
1	1087. Sept 26. 1088.	William Giffard, con- tinued —	Odo, Bishop of Bayeux and Earl of Kent. William de Carilefo, Bishop of Durham.
3	1090. July.	Robert Bloet, made Bishop of Lincoln, 1093.
6	1093.	Galdric ? Drogo, Keeper
7	1094. ?	William Giffard, again —	Ranulph Flambard, afterwards Bishop of Durham.

Ranulph Flambard has also been named as a chancellor, but without sufficient authority.

Henry I.

August 5, 1100—December 1, 1135. 35 years, 3 months, 27 days.

A R.	A. D.	CHANCELLOR.	CHIEF JUSTICIARIES, OR JUSTICIARIES. The latter marked ?
1	1100. Aug. 5.	William Giffard, afterwards Bishop of Winchester	Robert Bloet, Bishop of Lincoln.
2	1101. Sept.	Roger, afterwards Bishop of Salisbury
3	1103. March.	William Giffard again
4	1104. Jan.	Waldric
8	1107-8.	Rannlph, ob. 1123	Roger, Bishop of Salisbury.
24	1124.	Geoffrey Rufus, afterwards Bishop of Durham	? Geoffrey Ridel. ? Ralph Basset. ? Richard Basset. ? Geoffrey de Clinton. ? Alberic de Vere.

The above Waldric is supposed to be the chancellor of William II., called Galdric, and to have been erroneously called Walter in two charters of this reign dated in 1106.

The names of the following persons have been inserted in some Lists of Chancellors, but are omitted here for the reasons I have adduced in 'The Judges of England,' vol. i. pp. 80, 81.

Godfrey, Bishop of Bath ; really chancellor to the Queen ;
Herbert ;
Reginald ;

Thomas, by a charter, which is found to belong to the reign of Henry II. ;—and Richard the Chaplain.

Among the Justiciaries named in this reign is

Hugh de Bocland ; but he seems only to have been sheriff of Hertfordshire.

Stephen.

December 26, 1135—October 25, 1154. 18 years, 10 months.

A.R.	A.D.	CHANCELLORS.	CHIEF JUSTICIARIES, OR JUSTICIARIES. The latter marked ?
1	1135	Roger Pauper	Roger, Bishop of Salisbury.
4	1139 ?	Philip Robert de Gaut
18	1153. Nov.		Henry, Duke of Normandy. ? Richard de Luci.

I must again refer to 'The Judges of England,' vol. i. p. 144, for the reasons for omitting the names of the three following persons, who have been included in former Lists of Chancellors.

Roger, Bishop of Salisbury ;
Alexander, Bishop of Lincoln ;—and
Reginald, or Reinold, Abbot of Walden.

During the temporary sovereignty of the Empress Maud, two of her chancellors are named ; viz.

Theobald, Archbishop of Canterbury, and William Fitz-Gilbert.

Henry II.

December 19, 1154—July 6, 1189. 34 years, 6 months, 18 days.

A.R.	A.D.	CHANCELLORS.	CHIEF JUSTICIARIES.
1	1154. Dec.	Thomas Becket, afterwards Archbishop of Canterbury	Robert de Beaumont, Earl of Leicester, and Richard de Luci. }
8	1162	Resigned	Richard de Luci alone.
13	1167
19	1173	Ralph de Warneville
25	1179		Richard Tocliffe, Bishop of Winchester. } Geoffrey Ridel, Bishop of Ely, and } John of Oxford, Bishop of Norwich. } Ranulph de Glanville.
26	1180
27	1181	Geoffrey Plantagenet, Bishop of Lincoln, and afterwards Archbishop of York

For nearly eleven years from 1162 to 1173 no chancellor can be with certainty placed.

Four other chancellors are introduced into some lists. I have omitted them for the reasons given in 'The Judges of England,' vol. i. pp. 165, 166. They are

John ;

Walter de Constantiis, Archdeacon of Oxford, and afterwards Bishop of Lincoln and Archbishop of Rouen ; who seems to have acted only as deputy of Ralph de Warneville ;

Walter de Bidun, Chancellor of Scotland ; and

Nigel, Bishop of Ely.

Justiciars and Justices Itinerant were very numerous in this reign.

Richard I.

September 3, 1189—April 6, 1199. 9 years, 7 months, 3 days.

A.R.	A.D.	CHANCELLORS.	VICE-CHANCELLORS.	CHIEF JUSTICIARIES.
1	1189. Sept. 3	William de Longchamp, afterwards Bishop of Ely		Ranulph de Glanville.
	15	—		Hugh Pugar, Bishop of Durham, and William de Mandeville, Earl of Albemarle. } Bishop Pugar, and William de Longchamp, Bishop of Ely. }

	1269. July	Richard de Middleton, Keeper , afterwards Chanc. Died 1272.
56	1272. Aug. 7	John de Kirkeby, Keeper

The appointment of a keeper of the seal—custos sigilli--instead of a chancellor, was now introduced.

During the occasional absences of the chancellors and keepers, the seal was sometimes placed in the temporary custody of the keepers of the wardrobe or officers of the household, whose names it has not been deemed necessary to insert.

The division of the courts commenced in this reign, but was not definitely established till near the end of it; nor then with such sufficient distinctness as to enable lists to be prepared appropriating the judges to their different courts; but after this reign the judges of the Courts of Equity, King's Bench, Common Pleas, and Exchequer, will be placed in separate tables.

In this reign the first instance occurs of an advocate being regularly employed in the king's affairs.

Lawrence del Brok is recorded as pleading for the king, 'sequitur pro rege,' for fourteen years from 1253 to 1267; when he was made a justicier.

John de Lythegrenes is also mentioned in the same manner in Northumberland.

Justices of Trailbaston, in addition to the Justices Itinerant, were appointed from the latter end of this reign till the middle of that of Richard II., after which no further commissions were issued.

ATTORNATI REGIS.

The advocates employed by the king were sometimes designated by this title; but the more ordinary mode of description was 'Qui sequitur pro rege,' or 'Narratores pro rege.' There were often two acting at the same time, probably answering to the attorney- and solicitor-general of the present day; but the latter title does not appear to have been adopted till the reign of Edward IV. The following are named:—

- VI. 1277-8. William Boneville, in Essex.
- VII. 1278-9. William de Giselham.
- VIII. 1279-80. Gilbert de Thornton, acting with W. de Giselham.

SOLICITOR-GENERALS.

This officer had no existence previous to this reign; the king's attorney being only named in all the earlier proceedings in Parliament, while subsequently to this period the king's solicitor is also introduced. The great increase of business in the Courts of Chancery and Exchequer probably rendered the appointment necessary.

Edward G.

April 9 to June 25, 1483. 2 months and 16 days.

During this short period there was little change in the courts.

THOMAS ROTHERAM, Archbishop of York, was continued chancellor for the first few weeks of the reign; and was then succeeded by JOHN RUSSELL, Bishop of Lincoln, who retained it till Richard III. usurped the throne.

ROBERT MORTON remained Master of the Rolls for the short continuance of the reign.

In the Common Law Courts no change is recorded, except that HUMPHREY STARKEY was appointed Chief Baron of the Exchequer, on the death of Sir William Nottingham, just ten days before the king was dethroned.

---

William Huddersfield remained attorney-general for the first six weeks of the reign, and then Morgan Kydwelly was appointed on May 28.

CURSITOR BARONS.

Ju'y 8, 1606, Nowell Sotherton; May 26, 1610, Thomas Cæsar;
Oct. 24, 1610, John Sotherton (2).

The name of CURSITOR BARON, as a distinct officer, first occurs in this reign. At the death of John Sotherton (1) all the remaining barons had been previously serjeants, and were denominated "Barons of the Coif." To those only of that degree was the judicial business of the court in future entrusted. But as they were ignorant of the formal duties in reference to the revenue, which had been previously performed by all the old Barons of the Exchequer, a new officer, conversant with the routine, but of secondary rank, was appointed, whose duties being to audit the sheriffs' accounts and to attend to other matters of course, received the name of Cursitor Baron.

In the reign of William IV. many of these duties were transferred to the commissioners for auditing the public accounts; and in the reign of Victoria, the office, having become almost a sinecure, was abolished.

The names of the Cursitor Barons will be added at the foot of the tables of the Court of Exchequer.

THE above is the length of Charles's nominal reign, but the eleven years, three months, and twenty-nine days, during which the Interregnum lasted, being deducted, his actual reign was reduced to twenty-four years, eight months, and eight days.

The years of his reign were however calculated as if there had been no interruption; his restoration and his first official and legislative acts being dated as of the twelfth year of the king.

Preceding the Lives under each Monarch is a 'Survey of the Reign,' in which a progressive history of the Courts is attempted—as originally constituted, as subsequently divided, and as permanently established. They also treat of the political position of the Judges, the mode of their appointment, their dress and customs, with the regular order of their succession in intelligible tables. A full account is given of the Serjeants, the ceremony of their inauguration, their practices, their feasts, and their offerings; and historical notices of the several Inns of Court, their system of government and collegiate regulations, the different degrees of their members, their sports and revels, masques and disguisings; together with illustrative anecdotes and incidents of Westminster Hall.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

‘It is impossible to speak too highly of the care and research with which these interesting memorials have been compiled by Mr. Foss from the original sources.’—Edinburgh Review.

‘Too high praise cannot be awarded to Mr. Foss for careful and painstaking research.....He has rejected the husk of archæology, and presented the kernel. His conclusions are not merely sound, his logic is inventive.’—Spectator.

‘It supplies what was much wanted,—a regular and progressive account of English institutions. The result is a correction of many errors, an addition of much new information, a better general view of our strictly legal history than any other jurist, historian, or biographer had heretofore attempted to give.’
Examiner, 1st. Notice.

‘Apart from any biographical interest belonging to it, the work, in its complete state, will supply a regular and progressive account of English legal institutions, such as exists in no other equally accessible form in our language.’
Examiner, 2nd. Notice.

‘Mr. Foss’s work will form a nearly complete history of the English Bench and Bar, told briefly, yet with the accuracy of a most able and diligent investigator.’—Examiner, 3rd. Notice.

‘Lord Campbell boasts of “the Cancellarian mummies which he has dug up and exhibited to the public;” but Mr. Foss may boast of a higher claim to praise, in having given to the persons whom he has drawn from the shades of a long and all but hopeless obscurity, the truth of an historical interest, and the animation of a real existence.’—Gentleman’s Magazine, 1st. Notice.

‘It is the distinction of Mr. Foss’s book, that he builds everything up on authority, and quotes authority for everything.....He has written a book which has added more to our knowledge of legal history than any single work published since Madox’s “History of the Exchequer,”—a book which is essentially sound and truthful, and must therefore take its stand in the permanent literature of our country.’—Gentleman’s Magazine, 2nd. Notice.

‘Mr. Foss’s work carries with it proofs of originality, alike in its materials as in the well-balanced judgments it pronounces; and he may be considered the Hallam of our judicial history.’—Literary Gazette.

‘It is a work of great erudition, and full of antiquarian interest.’

Saturday Review.

‘To have successfully supplied a chasm in the legal literature of England is no unenviable success. To have executed the task with such a depth and variety of research, with such vigilance, acuteness, judgment, and skill, as to set all future competition at defiance, and produce at once a work, perfect in its kind, is assuredly high praise. This high praise, however, and nothing less than this, is fairly due to Mr. Foss.’—Law Magazine and Review.

‘It is happy for our legal literature that the Lives of our Judges should have been undertaken by such a man as Mr. Foss. We happen to know that the highest opinion is entertained of his work by those who are best qualified to judge of it, the Judges of our own days; and the writer of this article has cited it as a work of authority in the Court where Lord Campbell presides, when his Lordship recognised the learning and the accuracy of his literary rival.’

Dublin Review.

PREFACE.

---

THIS Table of the Judges of England during the fifty years of the reign of Queen Victoria, from 1837 to 1887, is published in the hope that it may not be unacceptable or uninteresting at the present time. It contains a list of the Judges of the Chancery and Common Law Courts, the Court of Probate, the Court for Divorce and Matrimonial Causes, the High Court of Admiralty, and the Court of Arches; and, since the constitution of the Supreme Court of Judicature, and the changes effected by the Judicature Acts generally, a list of the Lords of Appeal, of the Judges of the Court of Appeal, and of the Divisions of the High Court of Justice. There is also added a list of the members of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council appointed under 34 & 35 Vict. cap. 91; and, finally, a list of the Attorneys- and Solicitors-General.

The Table is so arranged that it shows the succession of the Judges, and, in any given year, those who were contemporaneous. By way of making it complete, an Alphabetical List is added, in which are included the dates of the Judges' appointments, resignations, and deaths, as well as the dates of appointments of the Law Officers. In cases where a Judge or a Law Officer has filled a judicial office or been Law Officer previous to 1837, the dates of the appointments to such offices are also given.

The later dates have been mostly obtained from the Crown Office, but, for the earlier dates the compiler has relied upon Mr. Foss' 'Tabulae Curiales,' a work giving a list of the Judges of England from the time of William I. to 1864, to which complete and invaluable work the present cannot pretend to be more than a supplement.

It is hoped that the notes in the Table will sufficiently indicate the various changes which have taken place in the names and in the constitution of the Courts.
